Our live exercises provide amazing experiences to stretch your team in a fast paced, challenging scenario requiring an analytical and investigative mindset to make decisions and solve problems

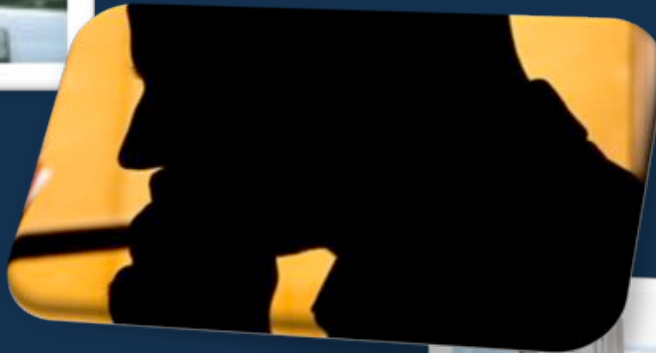

Using realistic story lines from the first hand experience of our practitioners, professional actors, real locations and props, your team will feel as though they are in the very operational and leadership roles we ask them to enact.

Leadership, decision making, effective communication and analytical thinking are at the core of what we do. Delegates face the challenge of critical decision-making in conditions of uncertainty as they respond to crises and experience a day in the life of Scotland Yard detectives.

The experience includes participation in intelligence gathering, surveillance, crime scene investigation (CSI), interviewing suspects, negotiation and roles in the operations room where the investigation is coordinated and led.

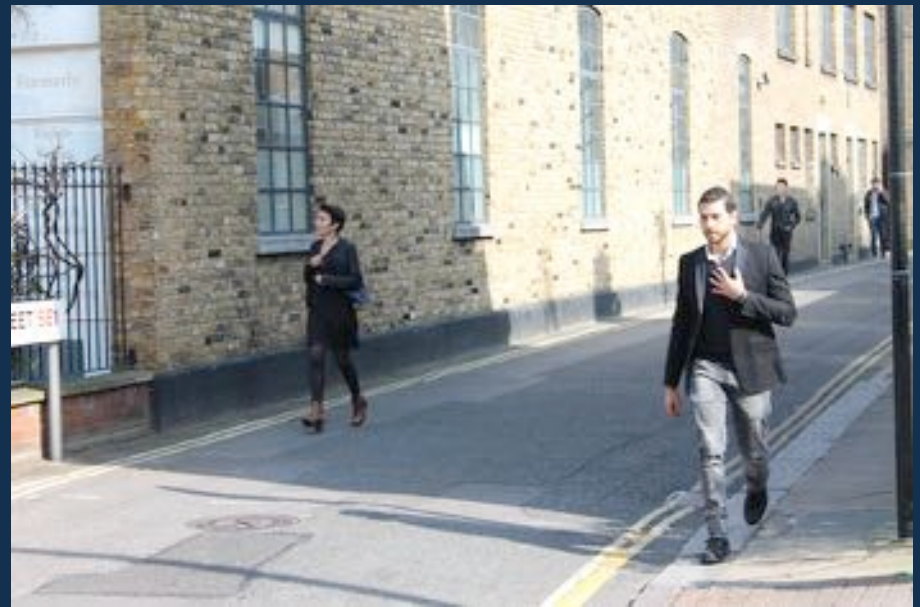

The separate strands of the investigation follow lines of enquiry to bring together evidence and reach the solution. Delegate's decisions influence the direction of the investigation and the outcome of the exercise.

Delegates are supported by experienced specialists to ensure a fully interactive but safe experience using the streets, public places and interesting locations where role actors as suspects create opportunities to progress the investigation

We deliver exciting and stimulating experiential learning events, which provide a realistic insight into the work of investigators.

Our live exercises take your people out of the classroom, out of the lecture theatre and way out of their comfort zone. Our key objective is to help people to make critical decisions in conditions of uncertainty and to do this we use highly experienced specialists with a strong operational and training background to ensure we land the learning objectives and leverage the transferable skills.

See what some of our previous delegates have said

One of the most valuable experiences I have ever had. It was so thought-provoking and I will never forget the lessons I learnt.

I feel like I was born for this! It was truly inspirational.

Excellent concept and execution. Offered the opportunity to observe myself & colleagues in 'action' providing very valuable learning

Incredibly organised and run, very believable, like being in '24'. Really enjoyed the experience.

This was the best experiential learning experience I have ever had. Highly enjoyable and challenging.

The most challenging and rewarding simulation that I have participated in. Significant personal learning around how I act and feel under pressure. Real insight into decision-making – both within a team and individually. 'Uncomfortable excitement' is very apt description. Event generated a huge amount of discussion and people very willing to offer feedback.
